OVERVIEW: THE 2001/02 BES

The 2001/02 BES involves several major data collections, which are depicted below:

I) Main British Election Survey

II) Northern Ireland Election Survey

III) Campaign survey

IV) Content analysis of newspaper coverage

NB: the names of the files listed above match the names of the files submitted to the Data Archive. All of these files can also be accessed via the BES website (www.essex.ac.uk/bes).

TECHNICAL REPORT & GUIDE TO ARCHIVED FILES

The surveys conducted under the scope of the BES 2001-02, and the resulting files submitted to the UK Data Archive, are set out in more detail below. They fall under five broad subheadings: General and Overview files (such as this one), and then the four branches of data collection distinguished in the diagram above. All of the files submitted to the Archive may also be downloaded from the 2001/02 BES website at www.essex.ac.uk/bes. Anyone with questions about the data should contact Harold Clarke (hclarke@utdallas.edu) or the BES address (bes@essex.ac.uk) for additional information.

A NOTE ON FILE FORMATS: The datasets submitted to the archive are SPSS data files (with a .SAV suffix). Anyone requiring the data in alternative formats should contact Harold Clarke (hclarke@utdallas.edu). (Note that, on the BES website, the data files are in SPSS portable (.POR) format.) Other files submitted to the archive are in the following formats: codebooks/summary tables are ASCII text files; questionnaires are Word (.DOC) and Adobe (.PDF) files.

General and Overview

Files

- INTRO.DOC and INTRO.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of this information file
- ROSETTASTONE.XLS - an Excel file that provides a comparative listing of questions asked in and variables created from 2001/02 BES surveys conducted to date

Wave 1

Wave 1 of the main British Election Survey was a pre-election, pre-campaign “benchmark” survey. The fieldwork was conducted by NOP, during the period 3 March – 14 May 2001. Face-to-face interviews were conducted in the respondents’ homes, via CAPI (computer-assisted personal interviewing). These interviews were designed to last approximately thirty minutes. The following table summarises the response rate to Wave 1:

	N	% of issued
Number of addresses issued	6460	100.0
vacant/non-residential	366	5.7
			% of in-scope
Number of addresses in-scope	6094	94.3	100.0
interview obtained	3219	49.8	52.8
interview not obtained	2875	44.5	47.2
Of which:
refusal	1408	21.8	23.1
non-contact	910	14.1	14.9
other	557	8.6	9.1

Wave 2

Wave 2 of the main BES took the form of a second face-to-face (CAPI) interview conducted with as many respondents as possible from the pre-election benchmark survey. Again, the fieldwork was conducted by NOP, during the period 8 June – 30 July 2001. This time, the interviews were designed to last approximately sixty minutes, after which a self-completion questionnaire was left with respondents. The response rate is summarised in the table below:

	N	% of issued
Number of addresses issued	3223	100.0
moved away ^a	40	1.2
			% of in-scope
Number of addresses in-scope	3183	98.8	100.0
interview obtained ^b	2354	73.0	74.0
with self-completion	1628		69.2
without self-completion	726		30.8
interview not obtained	829	25.7	26.0
Of which:
refusal	409	12.7	12.8
non-contact	213	6.6	6.7
other	168	5.2	5.3
moved	39	1.2	1.2

^a Of the 79 respondents who moved between Waves 1 and 2, 40 were designated ineligible by the fieldwork agency.

^b During the construction of the panel, 2315 definite panel matches were identified. The N of 2354 reported in the table therefore includes 39 respondents designated as ‘unlikely panel matches’. These respondents are assigned a value of ‘3’ on the prepost panel filter variable, and so users can decide whether or not to include them in analyses. If these 39 are assumed not to be part of the panel, then the response rate falls to 72.7%.

In order to adjust for the impact of panel attrition, and to ensure that the post-election survey yielded a representative sample of the electorate comparable with previous BES post-election cross-sections, the post-election survey was conducted with an additional “top-up” sample of respondents, from constituencies that were underrepresented in the panel component of Wave 2. NOP conducted the top-up fieldwork over the period 23 July – 30 September 2001. The response rate for the top-up sample is summarised below.

	N	% of issued
Number of addresses issued	1548	100.0
vacant/non-residential	72	4.7
			% of in-scope
Number of addresses in-scope	1476	95.3	100.0
interview obtained	681	44.0	46.1
with self-completion	379		55.7
without self-completion	302		44.3
interview not obtained	795	51.4	53.9
Of which:
refusal	407	26.3	27.6
non-contact	229	14.8	15.5
other	154	9.9	10.4

Wave 3

Wave 3 of the main BES, a ‘one year on’ follow-up to the post-election survey, is yet to go into the field.

Sampling

The survey was designed to yield a representative sample of the British electorate. Initially, a random sample of 128 constituencies was drawn, stratified by standard region. (Constituencies north of the Caledonian Canal were excluded.) Then, from within each of these constituencies, two wards were randomly selected. This provided the 256 clusters for sampling. Respondents within these wards were sampled from the Postcode Address File. The survey incorporates booster samples for both Scotland and Wales. Users wishing to analyse just the Scottish or the Welsh samples should select from the dataset cases on which REGNALL = 9 (Scotland) or REGNALL = 4 (Wales). (Alternatively, separate datasets containing these Celtic sub-samples are available via the BES website at www.essex.ac.uk/bes/data.html.)

Weighting

There are a variety of weighting variables included in the main BES datasets. These variables offer the possibilities of weighting by region, by gender or by age within gender. The recommended option is to use the overall weighting variables, thereby weighting by region, gender and age within gender simultaneously. The labels given to these weighting variable alternatives differ according to different waves of the survey; specific labels are set out below.

Files

- PREPOST.SAV – an SPSS data file containing data from the first two waves of the main British Election Study panel. Variables from the pre-election questionnaire begin with the letter ‘a’; those from the post-election questionnaire begin with ‘b’, while those from the self-completion supplement begin with ‘c’. (The file includes other variables that were not survey questions but have been derived from items on the questionnaires.) Note that the structure of the BES means that several sub-datasets are nested within this overall file. The filter variables to select these subsets, and the weight variables that they require, are set out in the table below:

	To use sub-datasets...
	Pre-election	Pre+Post panel	Post-election cross-section	Mailback
Filter variable	TOPUP = 0	PREPOST = 1	POSTRESP = 1	MAILFILT = 1
Unique respondent ID label^a	BUNIQIDR	BUNIQIDR	BUNIQIDR	BUNIQIDR
Weight variables
	Region	REGWGTHC	BREGNWGT	REGOCTWT	MREGNWGT
	Gender	GENWGTHC	BGENWGT	GENOCTWT	MGENWGT
	Age/w/Gender	AGEWGTHC	BAGEWGT	AGEOCTWT	MAGEWGT
	Region*Gender*Age/w/Gender	AWGTGB	BPANWGT	POSTOCTW	MAILWGT
Unweighted N	3219	2315	3035	2191 ^b
Weighted N	3223	2303	3025	2195

^a The variable 'bunqidr' links respondents through each stage of data collection: it matches the 'arespid' from the pre- survey, it is the principal ID for the post- survey (including the top-up), and it matches the 'crespid' from the mailback survey. NB The variable 'brespid' does not uniquely identify respondents.

^b These overall Ns include mailbacks from the 'unlikely panel match' respondents. They also include 184 mailbacks from respondents involved in the pre- but not the post- interview. (These are respondents who were unwilling to be re-interviewed, but were persuaded by the interviewer to fill out the self-completion supplement in order to avoid a complete refusal and loss of information.)

- ❑ PREPOSTAGG.SAV – an SPSS data file, just as PREPOST above, but also containing constituency-level information for aggregate analysis. The first 157 variables in the dataset are taken from the British Parliamentary Constituency database, 1992-2001 (as obtainable via <http://ksghome.harvard.edu/~pnorris.shorenstein.ksg/data.htm>).
- ❑ NOPPRE.DOC and NOPPRE.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of the questionnaire used for Wave 1 of the main British Election Survey
- ❑ NOPPRECARDS.DOC and NOPPRECARDS.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of the show-cards used in conjunction with the pre-election questionnaire.
- ❑ NOPPRE.LST – an ASCII file containing summary tables of frequencies on variables generated by Wave 1 of the main British Election Survey
- ❑ NOPPOST.DOC and NOPPOST.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of the questionnaire used for the face-to-face interview in Wave 2 of the main British Election Survey (both panel and top-up respondents)

- NOPPOSTCARDS.DOC and NOPPOSTCARDS.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of the show-cards used in conjunction with the post-election questionnaire.
 - NOPPOST.LST – an ASCII file containing summary tables of frequencies on variables generated by the face-to-face interview in Wave 2 of the main British Election Survey (both panel and top-up respondents)
 - NOPMAILBACK.DOC and NOPMAILBACK.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of the self-completion questionnaire left with respondents to Wave 2 of the main British Election Survey (both panel and top-up respondents)
 - NOPMAILBACK.LST – an ASCII file containing summary tables of frequencies on variables generated by the self-completion questionnaire left with respondents to Wave 2 of the main British Election Survey (both panel and top-up respondents)

II) Northern Ireland Election Survey

A separate election survey was conducted in Northern Ireland. This was a post-election telephone (CATI) survey conducted with a sample of the Northern Ireland electorate. FDS conducted the fieldwork: 1053 potential voters were interviewed by telephone from their telecentre in Newcastle, between 12 – 17 June 2001. A summary of the response rate is provided below:

	N	%
Numbers called	5719	100.0
successful	1053	18.4
unsuccessful	4666	81.6
Of which:
screened	592	10.4
no reply/engaged/answerphone	381	6.7
refused	3236	56.6
other	457	8.0

Sampling

Interviewing was conducted by Random Digit Dialling to ensure that ex-directory households were included. The sample was therefore random, and interviewers spoke to the person answering the phone except that:

- at each address precedence was given to surveying 18-24 year olds
- towards the end of the interviewing period, women aged 25-64 were screened out as they had been surveyed in sufficient numbers

Weighting

The profile of the sample achieved closely matched that of Northern Ireland in terms of gender, age and social class, and so no weighting variables are included in the Northern Ireland dataset. (Relative to the general election result, the sample overstates support for the parties generally considered as moderate – the UUP, SDLP and Alliance – and understates support for Sinn Fein and (to a lesser extent) the DUP.)

Files

- ❑ NIRELAND.SAV – an SPSS data file containing data from the post-election telephone (CATI) interviews conducted in Northern Ireland (unweighted N = 1053).
- ❑ NIRELAND.DOC and NIRELAND.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of the questionnaire used for the Northern Ireland election survey
- ❑ NIRELAND.LST - an ASCII file containing summary tables of frequencies on variables generated by the Northern Ireland election survey

III) Campaign Surveys

Wave 1

Wave 1 of the campaign survey was a ‘rolling cross-section’ survey. Freestanding from the main BES described above, this took the form of a 4500-respondent survey, conducted by Gallup during the general election campaign. Fieldwork took place between 8 May and 6 June. Approximately 150 interviews were conducted each day, by telephone. The mean interview lasted around ten and a half minutes. Information on response rates is summarised below:

	N	%
Numbers called	16620	100.0
successful	4810	28.9
unsuccessful	11810	71.1
Of which:
screened	1874	11.3
no reply/engaged/answerphone	6744	40.6
refused	2789	16.8
other	403	2.4

Wave 2

Respondents interviewed in the pre-election rolling cross-section survey were re-interviewed immediately after the election. Again, the interviewing was by telephone, conducted by Gallup, in the period 8 – 18 June. The mean interview lasted just over three minutes. 78.0% of those interviewed prior to the election were re-interviewed.

Sampling

Interviewing was conducted by Random Digit Dialling to ensure that ex-directory households were included. Interviewers then asked to speak to the person aged 18 or over in the house who had had the most recent birthday, thus ensuring that the sample was random within households.

Weighting

The variable WEIGHT is included in the datasets set out below. It is calculated on the basis of five factors: gender by social class, gender by age, household car ownership, housing tenure, population by region.

Files

- ❑ GALLUP.SAV – an SPSS file containing data from the election campaign rolling cross-sectional survey (unweighted N = 4810). The weight variable is WEIGHT (weighted N = 4810). The file also contains data gathered via post-election interviews with a panel of the pre-election respondents (unweighted N = 3751). To select only panel respondents for analysis, select those cases on which the filter variable PANELIST = 1. All post-election variables start with the letter “Z”. Note that filters and weights are included so that analysts may construct each of the seven-day rolling cross-sectional campaign surveys. The rolling cross-sectional filters are FILT0514 - FILT0606 and the respective weights are WGT0514 - WGT0606.
- ❑ GALLUPAGG.SAV – an SPSS data file, just as GALLUP.SAV above, but also containing constituency-level information for aggregate analysis. The first 157 variables in the dataset are taken from the British Parliamentary Constituency database, 1992-2001 (as obtainable via <http://ksghome.harvard.edu/~pnorris.shorenstein.ksg/data.htm>). An additional constituency-level population density variable (from David Butler and Dennis Kavanagh, The British General Election of 1997, London: Macmillan, 1997, Appendix 1, Table A1.3) also is included. Filters and weights to construct the seven-day rolling cross-sectional campaign surveys are omitted.
- ❑ GALLUPPRE.DOC and GALLUPPRE.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of the questionnaire used for the election campaign rolling cross-sectional survey
- ❑ GALLUPPRE.LST - an ASCII file containing summary tables of frequencies on variables generated by the election campaign rolling cross-sectional survey

- GALLUPPOST.DOC and GALLUPPOST.PDF – Word and Adobe versions of the questionnaire used for the post-election survey of respondents participating in the election campaign rolling cross-sectional survey
 - GALLUPPOST.LST - an ASCII file containing summary tables of frequencies on variables generated by the post-election survey of respondents participating in the election campaign rolling cross-sectional survey

IV) Content Analysis of Newspaper Coverage

To supplement the surveys conducted as part of the 2001 British Election Study, a content analysis of newspaper coverage of the election campaign was conducted as part of the main study. Articles relating to the election campaign were identified from hard copies of 8 daily newspapers (Monday – Friday) for the election campaign period (9th May – 7th June). Using the coding frame, articles were manually coded by 2 coders during a period from June 2001 to February 2002. As an addition to the datasets of coded articles, corresponding datasets of article headlines were compiled to facilitate further research. It was also necessary to establish that the coding had been conducted reliably – that different coders, or the same coder over time, produced consistent results.

Sampling

For comparability with the 1997 press coverage study all articles from the front pages, with the exception of ‘Bulletin’ items, were coded. All articles relating to the election campaign appearing on the front pages of the newspapers were fully coded (200 articles). All other articles from the front pages of the newspapers were partially coded (including political articles that did not relate specifically to the campaign) up to and including variable 8 (V8) on the coding frame (269 articles). Approximately 2,500 campaign articles were identified from within the main section of the newspapers and a random sample of approx. 50% was drawn using SPSS (1240 articles) (Total population of campaign articles = 2643). For reliability testing a random sample of approximately 5% of the coded articles was drawn using SPSS.

Files

- CAFRAME.DOC and CAFRAME.PDF – Word and Adobe version of the user guide and coding schema
- CAFILE1.SAV - an SPSS dataset of 1440 campaign articles content-coded using the coding schema (200 front-page articles and 1240 articles from a sample taken from the main section of newspapers)

- ❑ CAFILE2.SAV - an SPSS dataset of 269 non-campaign articles partially content-coded using the coding schema
- ❑ CAFILE3.SAV - an SPSS dataset of 200 front-page campaign headlines
- ❑ CAFILE4.SAV - an SPSS dataset of 269 front-page non-campaign headlines
- ❑ CAFILE5.SAV - an SPSS dataset of 1240 campaign headlines from a sample taken from the main section of newspapers
- ❑ CARELIABILITY.DOC and CARELIABILITY.PDF – Word and Adobe version of reliability guide and reliability results
- ❑ CAFILE6.SAV – an SPSS dataset of cases that were recoded for reliability testing

21. Please indicate how you feel about general elections here in Britain - not a particular election but elections in general. Please indicate whether you agree or disagree with each of the following statements. [PLEASE CROSS ONE BOX IN EACH ROW]

	Strongly Agree	Agree	Neither agree nor disagree	Disagree	Strongly disagree
Elections help to keep politicians accountable for the promises they make	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Elections allow voters to express their opinions but don't really change anything	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Elections give voters an opportunity to tell politicians what they think is really important	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
All things considered, most elections are just a big waste of time and money	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

22. Now a few questions about political parties in Britain, not any particular party, but political parties generally. [PLEASE CROSS ONE BOX IN EACH ROW]

	Strongly Agree	Agree	Neither agree nor disagree	Disagree	Strongly disagree
There is often a big difference between what a party promises it will do and what it actually does when it wins an election	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Political parties are more interested in winning elections than in governing afterwards	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
The main political parties in Britain don't offer voters real choices in elections because their policies are pretty much all the same	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Political parties do more to divide the country than to unite it	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Political parties spend too much time bickering with each other	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Parties generally do a good job in finding well-qualified people to run for Parliament	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Being involved in a group like Greenpeace or the Countryside Alliance is a better way of influencing government than being active in a political party	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
In elections, political parties don't tell people about the really important problems facing the country	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

23. There is a lot of talk about democracy these days and people have different opinions about what a democracy should be. Please indicate whether you agree or disagree with each of the following statements. [PLEASE CROSS ONE BOX IN EACH ROW]

	Strongly Agree	Agree	Neither agree nor disagree	Disagree	Strongly disagree
In a democracy, the majority has a right to pass laws to protect its own language and culture	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
A democracy has the right to ban violent political groups, even if it means restricting some individuals' rights	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
In a true democracy, the majority has a responsibility to protect the rights of all minorities	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
There is nothing more to democracy than giving people the right to vote in free elections	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
In a true democracy, income and wealth are redistributed to ordinary working people	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Content Analysis of the Press Coverage of the 2001 British General Election.

The 2001 study is sponsored by a grant from the British Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC) as part of the British Election Study (BES) undertaken by the Government Department at the University of Essex. Campaign news was coded from 8 daily newspapers (Monday – Friday) from the day after the election was announced (9th May) to the day of the election (7th June).

Abstract:

The aims of the project were: To conduct a ‘high-level’ content analysis of the press coverage of the 2001 election campaign. This analysis will result in the creation of a ‘campaign dataset’ that will enable movements in opinion during the campaign to be related to press coverage of the campaign. A simplified version of the 1997 Scammel/Semetko coding schema was devised for this purpose.

Universe Sampled:

Location of units of observation: National; Country: United Kingdom national. Population keywords: News items

Population:

Content of press news coverage during the general election campaign period 9th May – 7th June 2001. Articles relating to the election campaign were identified from 8 daily newspapers (Monday – Friday): The Guardian, The Times, The Daily Telegraph, The Independent, The Sun, The Mirror, The Daily Mail, The Express. This included articles from within the ‘home news’ pages of the newspapers and, in addition, leaders, editorial and comment articles referring to the election campaign. No photographs, paid-for campaign advertisements, diary columns or articles of less than 50 words (with the exception of front page articles) were included. Campaign articles from other pages or separate sections to the main newspapers were not included - for example, international, finance, sports and letters pages, the Guardian’s G2, etc. The exceptions to this were leaders, editorial and comment articles from the Independent which all appear in the supplementary Review section.

Kind of Data:

Textual data.

Data Sources:

The originals of press data (newspapers) are held at the Department of Government, University of Essex.

Time Dimensions:

Cross-sectional (one-time study).

Sampling Procedures:

For comparability with the 1997 press coverage study all articles from the front pages, with the exception of 'Bulletin' items, were coded. All articles relating to the election campaign appearing on the front pages of the newspapers were fully coded (200 articles). All other articles from the front pages of the newspapers were partially coded (including political articles that did not relate specifically to the campaign) up to and including variable 8 (V8) (269 articles). Approximately 2,500 campaign articles were identified from within the main section of the newspapers and a random sample of approx. 50% was drawn using SPSS (1240 articles).

Method of Data Collection:

Articles relating to the campaign were identified from hard copies of the newspapers. The on-line service LexisNexis™ was used to provide hard copies of the identified articles for coding and to collect headline data.

File Layout:

5 files are available:

File 1: a dataset of 1440 campaign articles content-coded using the coding schema

File 2: a dataset of 269 non-campaign articles partially content-coded using the coding schema

File 3: a dataset of 200 front-page campaign headlines

File 4: a dataset of 269 front-page non-campaign headlines

File 5: a dataset of 1240 campaign headlines from a sample taken from the main section of newspapers

VARIABLE LIST

V1 ARTDATE (dd/mm/yy)
Date of article

V2 IDNO
Unique identification number allocated to each article

V3 PAPER
Newspaper in which the article appeared
01 Guardian
02 Times
03 Telegraph
04 Independent
05 Sun
06 Mirror
07 Mail
08 Express

V4 DAY
Day of week on which the article appeared
01 Monday
02 Tuesday
03 Wednesday
04 Thursday
05 Friday

V5 PAPERTYP
Type of newspaper in which the article appeared 01 Tabloid
02 Broadsheet

V6 ARTSIZE
Size of article - number of words provided by LexisNexis™

V7 ARTTYP
Type of article to enable identification of campaign articles
01 Campaign
02 Non-Campaign (Front Page only)

V8 PAGENO

Page number on which the article appeared. Where a continuation page is given, only the first page number should be coded.

V9 AUTHOR

Author of the article

01 Political Editor/Correspondent/Expert

02 Columnist

03 Not Given

04 Other

05 Can't Determine

99 Other (e.g. celebrity voter, voter, overseas journalist)

(Code 01 where journalist is specified, or can be identified, as political; 02 where journalist is specified as a columnist; 03 where no byline is present; 04 where the journalist's name and position is present but the position is non-political; 05 where journalist's name is present and no position is given. Where more than one author is acknowledged, only the first named author should be coded.)

V10 AUTHGEN

Gender of the author

01 Male

02 Female

03 Can't Determine/None

V11 AUTHNME

For completeness, for Author type 05, the name of the author may also be coded.

V12 STORYTYP

Type of story

01 Straight News

02 News Analysis/Background/Facts & Figures

03 Feature/Profile

04 Editorial/Leader

05 Comment/Opinion

06 Interview

07 Signed Column

08 Sketch

99 Other (e.g. joke columns)

(STRAIGHT NEWS if article relates to events over previous 24-hrs; NEWS ANALYSIS if article brings together information from different points in time; FEATURE/PROFILE if article has current information combined with substantial background information and often interviews with several protagonists OR if article contains attributes of the main actor with no interviews or substantial background information (e.g. 'Day in the Life' type articles); EDITORIAL/LEADER if article is specifically titled as such; COMMENT/OPINION if article is explicitly titled as such or appears to be the journalist's opinion without being a Signed Column or Editorial/Leader article, INTERVIEW if article is mainly a one-to-one interview with a main actor, SIGNED COLUMN if article is an explicitly named column, SKETCH if article is explicitly named as such.)

V13 SETTING

Setting/occasion of the story (HOW?)

- 01 Political
- 02 Campaign
- 03 Media
- 04 Other
- 05 No Identifiable Setting

This variable is intended to identify how the story came about. Which source set the agenda for the story? What is the setting or occasion that generated/initiated the story, i.e. the immediate stimulus for the action or events reported in the story? (POLITICAL would include legislative, government, party events or international events; CAMPAIGN would include press conferences, campaign events such as photo opportunities, rallies, speeches, meet-and-greet, candidate debates, launches; MEDIA would include interviews, reporting opinion poll results, journalist analysis, straight news reports of non-campaign events or news analysis; OTHER would include financial community, agricultural community, European community for example). As an example, an article about the launch of a manifesto would be coded 'CAMPAIGN', an article analysing the content of the manifesto would be coded 'MEDIA'.

V14 TREATMNT

Intended to establish the overall treatment given to the article

- 01 Serious
- 02 Lighthearted
- 03 Other

V15 CODER

Person who content-coded the article

- 01 Jane Carr
- 02 Paula Corcoran

V16,19,22 THEME1ST, THEME2ND, THEME3RD

Story theme/subject (WHAT?). What is the story about? The theme or subject list should be used to identify the most important/predominant subject in the story. The second and third-most important/predominant stories should also be coded (if applicable). The most important/predominant subject in the story should have the highest reliability between coders.

Use attached table of Story Subject (What?) variables (Table 1) for subjects.

V17,20,23 THME10TH, THME20TH, THME30TH

Other story subject. For completeness, where the story subject does not easily fit within the identified story subject variables (Table 1) the coder should provide a brief summary of the subject. The most important/predominant subject and up to 2 more subjects (if applicable) may be summarised.

V18,21,24 THME1AGR, THME2AGR, THME3AGR

Aggregated story subject. To enable analysis story subjects have been recoded into the following high-level themes:

- 01 Policy Stories
- 02 Apathy/Low Turnout Stories
- 03 Campaign Events
- 04 Mechanics of Elections
- 05 Types of Voters
- 06 Poll/Outcome Stories
- 07 Media Coverage
- 08 Party/Candidate Stories
- 09 Manifesto Content Stories
- 10 Spin/Media Manipulation
- 99 Other

Use attached table of Aggregated Subject variables (Table 3) for information on how Story Subject variables have been recoded.

V25,28,31,34 ACTOR1ST, ACTOR2ND, ACTOR3RD, ACTOR4TH

Story actors (WHOM?). Who is the story about? The first and second (if applicable) most important/predominant actors should be coded. If applicable, up to 2 subsequent actors may also be coded. This variable will assess the importance of the actors as indicated by a combination of the number of times they are mentioned or referred to, the order in which they appear and their appearance in the headline. The most important/predominant actor in the story should have the highest reliability between coders.

See attached table of Story Actor (Whom?) variables (Table 2).
Code Main, Second Actor and up to 2 subsequent actors.

V26,29,32,35 ACT1GEN, ACT2GEN, ACT3GEN, ACT4GEN

- Gender of actor
- 01 Male
 - 02 Female
 - 03 Can't Determine/None

V27,30,33,36 ACT10TH, ACT20TH, ACT30TH, ACT40TH

Other actor. For completeness, where the actor does not fit within the identified Story Actor variables (Table 2) the coder should provide the name of the actor. The most important/predominant actor and up to 3 more actors (if applicable) may be provided.

V37-38 JOURNEV1, JOURNEV2

Reporter evaluation of Main and Second Actor (as identified in variables V25 and V28 (if applicable)).

00 Can't determine/N/a

01 Criticising

02 Mixed/both

03 Supporting

04 Neutral

The coder should provide up to two entries to summarize the tone of all reporters' comments directed towards the main and second (if applicable) actors in the story. The aim is to determine whether or not reporters' comments were overall neutral (non-directional, straight, descriptive), mixed (a balance of criticising and supporting) or whether they appear to be purely supporting (reinforcing, agreeing,) or criticising (deflating, disagreeing,) the statements and activities of the MAIN ACTORS mentioned in the article. Max. 2 entries.

V39,42 EVLTING1, EVLTING2

Evaluating actor. The coder may provide up to two actors who have been identified as evaluating other actors in the story.

Use attached table of Story Actor (Whom?) variables (Table 2) to identify the actor(s) making the evaluation. Max. 2 entries.

V40,43 EVLTION1, EVLTION2

Actor evaluation of main actors in the story.

00 Can't determine/N/a

01 Criticising

02 Mixed/both

03 Supporting

04 Neutral

The coder should provide up to two entries to summarize the tone of comments directed towards the main actors in the story by other actor/s. The aim is to determine whether or not the comments of another actor mentioned in the story were overall neutral (non-directional, straight, descriptive), mixed (a balance of criticising and supporting) or whether they appear to be purely supporting (reinforcing, agreeing,) or criticising (deflating, disagreeing) the statements and activities of the MAIN ACTORS mentioned in the article.

V41,44 EVLTED1, EVLTED2

Evaluated actor. The coder may provide up to two actors who have been identified as having been evaluated by other actors in the story.

Use attached table of Story Actor (Whom?) variables (Table 2) to identify the actor(s) being evaluated. Max. 2 entries.

V45-46 TONE1ST, TONE2ND

Tone/favourability towards Main and Second Actor (as identified in variables V25 and V28 (if applicable)).

01 Negative

02 Mixed/Both

03 Positive

04 Neutral

00 Can't Determine

Based on the story as a whole including all information in the story, what is the tone of the story towards the main and second (if applicable) actors? The story should be coded AS A WHOLE, on the four point scale where 1 is negative, 2 is mixed (i.e. both negative and positive), 3 is positive and 4 is neutral (negative and positive both absent). To avoid bias and to differentiate from 'V37-38

JOURNEV1,JOURNEV2', coders should evaluate the tone of the story FROM THE PERSPECTIVE OF THE MAIN or SECOND ACTOR. As an example, this may result in a situation where JOURNEV1 and JOURNEV2 are both coded as 'Neutral' but due to comments and information provided within the story about the main and second actor TONE1ST and TONE2ND may be coded as 'Negative'

V47 POLICY

Density of policy relevant facts/information.

01 Low

02 Medium

03 High

00 None/N/A

Some stories may contain a great deal of policy relevant facts/information while others will contain very little, and these should be coded on the three point scale. Some will contain none whatsoever, and these should be coded as 0. (In some instances issues may be referred to without any facts/information regarding policy towards that issue being provided – these should be coded 0.) Refer to the Policy/Issues in the attached table of Story Subject (What?) variables (Table 1) for guidance. A judgement should be made depending on the number of policies referred to, the amount of facts/information and the size of the article.

V48 PRSONLTY

Density of personality information.

01 Low

02 Medium

03 High

00 None/N/A

Some stories may contain a great deal of information about actors' personalities while others will contain very little, and these should be coded on the three-point scale. Some will contain none whatsoever, and these should be coded as 0. Personality information is present where comments are made specifically about the actor(s) character(s). A judgement should be made depending the amount of information and the size of the article.

Reliability Testing.

It is necessary to establish that the coding has been conducted reliably – that different coders, or the same coder over time, have produced consistent results. For the content analysis component of the British Election Study 2001 there were two coders. Coder 1 worked on 1054 articles and Coder 2 worked on 386 articles. In order to conduct coder reliability testing a random sample of approximately 5% of the coded articles was drawn using SPSS.

Intra-coder reliability.

Coder 1 recoded 57 articles.

Coder 2 recoded 19 articles.

Inter-coder reliability.

Coder 1 recoded 36 articles coded by Coder 2.

For the purpose of reliability testing the variables have been separated into three categories:

Indicator: general facts about the articles which are fixed and not open to coder interpretation;

Manifest: information that is evident within the text but must be extrapolated and could, therefore be open to interpretation;

Evaluative: the coder must make a subjective decision based on information in the article as a whole.

Type	Variable
Indicator	Date, Id, Newspaper, Day of Week, Newspaper Type, Size of Article, Page Number, Author
Manifest	Story Type, Setting, Tone, Theme 1, Theme 2, Theme 3, Actor 1, Actor 2, Actor 3, Actor 4
Evaluative	Reporter Evaluation of Actor 1, Reporter Evaluation of Actor 2, 1 st Evaluator, 1 st Evaluation, 1 st Evaluated, 2 nd Evaluator, 2 nd Evaluation, 2 nd Evaluated, Tone Towards Actor 1, Tone Towards Actor 2, Density of Policy Information, Density of Personality Information

The overall results by category are set out below.

	% Correct by type of category
	Indicator	Manifest	Evaluative
Coder 1/Coder 1	99.6	82.5	88.1
Coder 2/Coder 2	98.7	83.1	88.6
Coder 1/Coder2	99.6	83.9	85.7
